

I understand that the FCC has introduced a new broadcast service known as LPFM which could override translator stations, such as KLOVE on 88.7 in Midland Texas. This station fulfills a strong need for Christian music for myself and our area. It not only sustains the spirituality of people, it also brings new people to God that have been searching for meaning and needed changes in their lives. Please do not let LPFM take over translator stations. Thank you.